Rally Cap is a micronutrient spray compound enhanced with stress relief technology, carbohydrates, amino acids, and plant extracts. This novel blend is designed to relieve abiotic stress, stimulate plant metabolism, and increase absorption and mobility of nutrients especially during development and reproductive stages. The micronutrients in this formulation are glucoheptonate chelated, for maximum compatibility, absorption and plant safety in various application conditions when used as directed. The improved metabolism of nutrients and relief of abiotic stress can aid in improving total plant physiology and result in improved marketable yield.
