Rally MuckMaster is a micronutrient spray compound enhanced with stress relief technology, carbohydrates, amino acids, and plant extracts. This novel blend of components is designed to relieve abiotic stress, stimulate plant metabolism, and deliver nutrients efficiently during all stages of growth. The micronutrients in this formulation are glucoheptonate chelated, for maximum compatibility, absorption and plant safety in various application conditions when used as directed. The improved metabolization of nutrients and relief of abiotic stress can aid in improving total plant physiology and result in improved marketable yield. The micronutrients in this formulation are tailored to growing conditions for crops grown on Muck soils in the EAA.
